

If you spot a scam...Tell someone

Then tell the FTC - ftc.gov/complaint
1-877-FTC-HELP (1-877-382-4357)

1 Spot imposters. Scammers often pretend to be someone you trust, like a government official, a family member, a charity, or a company you do business with. Don't send money or give out personal information in response to an unexpected request — whether it comes as a text, a phone call or an email.

2 Do online searches. Type a company or product name into your favorite search engine with words like "review," "complaint" or "scam." Or search for a phrase that describes your situation, like "IRS call." You can even search for phone numbers to see if other people have reported them as scams.

3 Don't believe your caller ID. Technology makes it easy for scammers to fake caller ID information, so the name and number you see aren't always real. If someone calls asking for money or personal information, hang up. If you think the caller might be telling the truth, call back to a number you know is genuine.

4 Don't pay upfront for a promise. Someone might ask you to pay in advance for things like debt relief, credit and loan offers, mortgage assistance, or a job. They might even say you've won a prize, but first you have to pay taxes or fees. If you do, they will probably take the money and disappear. Learn where to get real help with these issues at consumer.ftc.gov.

5 Consider how you pay. Credit cards have significant fraud protection built in, but some payment methods don't. Wiring money through services like Western Union or MoneyGram is risky because it's nearly impossible to get your money back. That's also true for reloadable cards (like MoneyPak or Reloadit) and gift cards (like iTunes or Google Play). Government offices and honest companies won't require you to use these payment methods.

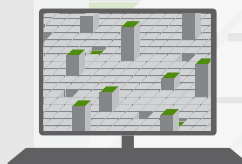

6 Talk to someone. Before you give up your money or personal information, talk to someone you trust. Con artists want you to make decisions in a hurry. They might even threaten you. Slow down, check out the story, do an online search, consult an expert — or just tell a friend.

7 Hang up on robocalls. If you answer the phone and hear a recorded sales pitch, hang up and report it to the FTC. These calls are illegal, and often the products are bogus. Don't press 1 to speak to a person or to be taken off the list. That could lead to more calls.

8 Be skeptical about free trial offers. Some companies use free trials to sign you up for products and bill you every month until you cancel. Before you agree to a free trial, research the company and read the cancellation policy. And always review your monthly statements for charges you don't recognize.

9 Don't deposit a check and wire money back. By law, banks must make funds from deposited checks available within days, but uncovering a fake check can take weeks. If a check you deposit turns out to be a fake, you're responsible for repaying the bank.

From LIFE'S LITTLE INSTRUCTIONS

President's Corner

By Gari-Sue Greene

Happy October everyone.

Thankfully we are not as parched as we have been. We had a beautiful rain the night of September 8, 2020. The rain came in the biggest drops I've ever seen and it came hard. The following morning it was cool enough to sit outside and have coffee. The only thing that disturbed the tranquility was a woodpecker in the neighbor's tree.

There are some events going on in the park, though not Roadrunner events. They seem to be well attended, bocce ball, line dancing, Woody's last Saturday's coffee and a new approach to a drive-in movie. Keep your ideas coming.

I don't foresee the clubhouse opening anytime soon because of social distancing but things are opening up in Tucson. Our neighbors went to the movies and said there were only 12 people in the theater.

If you have infirmed neighbors, keep a watchful eye. One other thing, don't forget to vote.

Let's pray for continued cooler days. Happy Halloween.

She also celebrated her 62d wedding anniversary on the day of her death. She was born on March 31, 1934, in Corona, New York, and daughter to Giuseppe (Joseph) and Lina Laurelli (Messina). Jo is a 1952 Newtown high school graduate. She later worked for American Credit as a head switchboard operator and typist. Pet Safety in the Park Update - October 2020

The Fall trapping of feral cats has been suspended due to Covid-19 per PACC (Pima Animal Care Center). When notified by PACC when suspension has been lifted, we will set up another trapping.

We will be trapping any kittens that you may see. Please let us know as soon as you see kittens. We need them young enough to socialize them. After six weeks, it is very hard to work with them. Unfortunately, last year's trapping of kittens were too old and too feral to be adopted out. They were neutered and returned to the park.

Please keep your animals in or on leashes due to the wildlife here in our park.

Thank you from your Rincon Country MHP Pet Safety Team

An Independent Woman, Part 3

By Gari-Sue Greene (continued from Sept. issue)

I was content to live my life as an independent woman and then one night... (from September)

But, what did I know? God had other plans for me.

Tired and just wanting to stay home and spend the night in front of the TV, I made a commitment and spent a lot of money to see "The Rolling Stones at Tucson Community Center. (the one and only time they played in Tucson.)

It was hot, my feet hurt from standing in line and I was thirsty. Standing next to me was this handsome young man, I was sure he was younger than me. He looked about 20, I was 33. Of course, I started to chat with him (it was just the way to pass the time and he was nice.)

The sun got hotter, I got hotter and finally he asked if I would hold his place in line; he wanted to get something to drink. Nice guy that he was, he asked if he could get me something. Naturally I said yes, I was sweltering and there was no shade.

I held his place. It was festival style seating and we sat together. By the time the concert was over, I had this inkling there was something about him I really liked. After the concert was over, he walked me back to my car and asked for my phone number.

I asked him if he dated older women and he said yes but that he wasn't older. I told him to prove it, he showed me his driver's license and sure enough he was older by almost 3 years.

He called the following Wednesday and invited me out for dinner on Friday night. Well Friday came and he picked me up in a very old Dodge van, I mean very, very old.

We drove over to The Lunt Avenue Marble Club on Alvernon and when we were seated at our table, the waitress brought menus. I'm thinking to myself, what shall I order. He knew what he wanted so I told him to go ahead an order. He ordered French Onion Soup. FRENCH ONION SOUP! Oh my God, the guy has no money! What should I order? I found the cheapest thing on the menu.

Dinner over, we headed back to his van. As I stepped up, I got a cramp in my thigh. I started screaming, "rub my leg, rub my leg". He did. I thought I saw his eyes gleam.

Back at my house, he came in and we talked til 3 in the morning. We were sitting on my couch and I asked him "are you the one?" He said, "the one what?"

He moved in the following week and we married six weeks later. At first I told him I couldn't marry him because I had been married twice before (no children) and that there wasn't a man out there who could give me what I needed.

He said, "What do you need?" I told him I needed a man who would love me like George Brent loved Bette Davis in Dark Victory. And, that I needed to be treated like the sun and the moon and the stars and I would treat a man the same way.

He told me he had never seen the movie and I told him, "Go rent it." He did. He said he could love me more than that. He told me he could love like Humphrey Bogart loved Lauren Bacall in "Casablanca." I told him I never saw it and he said, "Go rent it." I did.

My mother told me I was nuts. "What if he beats you?" I told her it would only happen once. Needless to say he was the kindest and most wonderful man I have ever met. He treats me like the sun and the moon and the stars. It's mutual. That was 42 years ago and still counting.

But, little did I know what because of who he was and his background, that he would launch me into a career of an international researcher and make me famous.
